Lunch Keynote - Human Wisdom in the Age of Artificial Intelligence

Michael Tracey
Director, Global Talent Strategy
Scotiabank

Artificial Intelligence is potentially the most disruptive technology since humans learned to harness fire. Like all technologies, it is inherently benign. How humans choose to use it will determine its impact on investors, firms, and the global economy. This keynote explores how behavioural science can help compliance, risk management, and governance functions strengthen human judgment in an AI-enabled world to mitigate new risks, counter cognitive bias, and ensure that human decision making remains thoughtful, accountable, and effective where it matters most.
